upon the heels of the elaborate Close upon the heels of the claborate motion pictures secured by Manager McNulty for the pleasure of his guests comes the beautiful high art production. The Lives of Napoleon and Josephine, by the Vitagraph company of America, which in point of technique, dramatic treatment and original conception is entitled to the highest place to America in the motion picture world. ception is entitled to the highest place in America in the motion picture world. It is probably the most pretentious effort yet made in America along this line, and certainly the greatest as well as the most artistic undertaking yet made by a American firm. The extensive and painstaking efforts made by the manufacturers in producing this picture have resulted in a most perfect altrium and one that is highly admirapicture and one that is highly admira-ble and successful. Another big feature picture is shown under the title Little Sheeherd of Tumbling Run and is one of the many fine pictures shown, others being Forecastle Tom. Escaped Melody, The General's Fiances, The Teamster's Daughter and the rollicking picture We're Backing Up.

The excellent musical numbers met with flattering applause, making en-ores necessary.

THE AUDITORIUM.

A most pleasing bill headed by John-ny Bell, who is considered the greatest ground tumbler in the profession today is attracting large and well pleased audiences to the Auditorium.

Mr. Bell has just closed with the Cohan & Harris minstrels, the highest process of the Auditorium of the kind over the cohange of the priced organization of its kind ever before the public. Mr. Beil is a domedian of great ability and an acrobat whose work is little less than marvel-

The most attractive singing and talking act seen here for some time is presented by Hammond & Forrester, whose attractive stage appearance and bright personality class them with the best. Chalk Saunders proves to be as in-teresting as of old, his clever concep-tions in black and white, interpolated by witty remarks, making a pleasing number which is apprenated by all. Last but by no means least is Mae Healy, who very cleverly renders songs and monologue with characteristic makeup and is favorably received.

The clever comedy film, There's No Fool Like an Old Fool, is voted by all to be the best yet.

Trolleys for Hill Towns.

We may hope, at all events, that he next wave of electric railway con-We may hope, at all events, that the next wave of electric railway construction in this state will rise high enough to reach up into the hill sections of western Massachustts, which are as remote today from transportation facilities as when steam railroad extension thereabouts came to an end, thirty or more years ago. If there is evertuilding in the eastern part of the ejste, there is certainly underbuilding west of the Connecticut river, where conditions do not indeed justify construction solely for passenger and freight, a paying business should be possible of development. The capacity of these isolated hill lowns to furnish traffic is not to be measured by conditions which exist without any speams of developing traffic. If as Prof. Petry of Williams used to say, a market for products is products for market, so with equal truth, if not with equal felicity, may be said that railways or traffic are traffic for railways—wherever they connect with hill-fism products have been growing amazingly in recent years all about these isolated hill regions which have been declining largely or wholly because of their isolation.—Springfield ative pension system by the Boston & Maine railroad and its employes has become law through the governor's signature. It now remains for the railroad men to vote its adoption.

This is the first railroad co-operative pension systems ever inaugurated or devised. Other railroads control their pension systems. This divides the board of trustees between the employer and the employer. With no pension less than $200 a year, and with the risponsibility of management in their own hands, it is not to be supposed that the $7.000 Boston & Maine men will fail to respond.

Love the Bow on Life's Cloud.

Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and evening star. It shines on the babe, and sheds its radiance on the quiet tomb. It is the mother of art, inspirer of poet, patriot and philosopher. It is the air and light of every heart, builder of every home, kindler of every fire on the hearth, it was the first dress of immortality. It fills the world with melody, for music is the voice of love. Love is the magician, the enchanter that changes worthless things to joy, and makes right royal queens and kings of common clay. It is the perfume of that wonderful flower, the heart, and without that sacred passion, that divine swoon, we are less than beasts, but with it-earth is heaven and we are gods.-The late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll.
